We always start with prayer and listening! To speak about sin, we often speak about idolatry, which is building our lives on things besides God. We also love to talk about the French motto: Liberty, Equality, and Brotherhood. This helps us explain the Gospel.

We meet many parents through our kids' friendships. Our kids are also involved in planning for our church gatherings.

At a school picnic we met a dad, invited him to a party and then spent hours talking about Jesus. After talking with him for 9 months he became a believer and was baptized!

We like to eat beef bourguignon, cheese, sausages, pasta, salads, and burgers. We also like tacos, even though they're not French!

Soccer, rugby, and hiking are popular. The French also like to play petanque which is similar to bowling. People play it outside.

Most people have what they need like food, clothing, and shelter, so they don't see a need to be filled in their lives. They also don't see themselves as bad or sinful people. They are also taught that God and religion are made up stories.
